

Don't let shuttle car failures undermine your production.

Underground coal mining is a dirty, harsh environment where uptime is critical - we've all heard that before. Considering that you are hundreds of feet down, we know that you don't want to worry about getting the coal transported out. Fortunately, NTN is the leading manufacturer of bearing products in the USA and the world leader in automotive wheel hub units. This expertise in quality manufacturing is critical in ensuring bearing and shuttle car reliability. Millions of people trust NTN to transport their most valuable possessions, shouldn't you?
